<sup>2</sup> There is lots of historical work on continental existentialists from analytically-trained philosophers, Brian Leiter on Nietzsche, Barry Smith on Husserl, etc. But here I list work whose primary aim is not exegetical but polemical (albeit in the recognition that the continentals are well worth discussing on these issues). Cf. “Apollonian” vs. “Dionysian” historical philosophy, from chapter 1 of: Rosenberg, Jay (2005). Accessing Kant. Oxford UP.
